Again, unknown. That's why I'm asking!

Hello there clark. I have been trying to get onto this BBS for a while, but have had limited time during the day. So far, it has been pretty neat. Had a little problem with constantly re-reading the same messages, but I think that I am over that now.
All in all, a very interesting bunch of messages to read. Of course I feel as if I have come upon a conversation in the middle, but it is still interesting.
One interesting note for you: after my dinner with the abductee two months ago, I began noticing (and remembering) some of the same symptoms. I'm not convinced - I've either been abducted myself, or else
I've got LYME Disease from the yard. %3}
Let me know how everything is going, and give me a call.
